

Co-creativity in Psychotherapy

A Workshop in Sydney with Keith Tudor

26th & 27th April 2025

The 'co' of co-creative emphasises the transactional, inter-relational, mutual, joint, and co-operative. The creative refers to what is original, imaginative, intuitive, and spontaneous about the encounter between human beings. In the context of psychotherapy, co-creativity describes what emerges and is influential between the psychotherapist and client – and also between the practitioner and their trainer and/or supervisor. Drawing on some 25 years of his development of this concept – both within and beyond transactional analysis – this workshop offers practitioners to explore their experience and understanding of the relational, emergent, influential, and mutual aspects of professional relationships – and, by implication, of personal relationships.

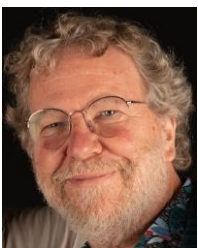

In this workshop, and in conjunction with the interests of the participants, Keith will present the principles of co-creative psychotherapy (including transactional analysis); the philosophical influences on its development; and some more recent research on the qualities of co-creativity, as well as its contribution to contemporary relational theory and practice (including psychodynamic thinking). There will be opportunities for discussion, demonstrations, presentation of clinical and other material, and small group work.

Venue: Workspace365, 66 Clarence Street, Sydney 2000 (on the corner of Erskine Street).

Dates: Saturday 26th & Sunday 27th April 2025. Times: 9:30am–4:30pm.

Fee: $600, payable in advance by bank transfer.¹

Enrolment: Please pay the fee and notify me of this by e-mail to: email@keithtudor.org

Keith Tudor, PhD. MSc, MA, Dip.Psychotherapy, CQSW, is a Certified, and Teaching and Supervising Transactional Analyst, and, with Graeme Summers, the winner of the 2020 Eric Berne Memorial Award for their work on co-creative transactional analysis. He is Professor of Psychotherapy at Auckland University of Technology, and the author/editor of over 400 peer-reviewed publications, including 23 books, the latest of which are: (edited with Welby Ings) Heuristic Enquiries: Research across disciplines and professions (Routledge, 2025), Transactional Analysis Proper – and improper: Selected and new papers (Routledge, 2025), (with Bernie Neville) Eco-centred Therapy: Revisioning person-centred psychology for a living world (Routledge, 2024), and (with Dave Key) Ecotherapy: A field guide (Karnac, 2023).

¹ Account details: Bank – Wise. Address – Wise Australia Pty Ltd, Suite 1, Level 11, 66 Goulburn Street, Sydney, NSW, 2000. Name – Dr Keith Tudor. Account number – 206103514. BSB code – 774001.